All the time he was muttering wildly to himself. When his revolver was empty he ran. The older woman ropped to the sidewalk, took the girl's head her arms and whispered over her, now and then looking up to wake the street with her screams. Policeman Rogers came running to them. Sorrentino met him, and old him that it was too late for anything | Three State Central Committees of the Party be done the girl was dead.

But where is the man who shot her?" asked Rogers.
That will be all right," said Sorrentino, colemnly: "he is in that house over there. Rogers has been in the neighborhood long enough to know better than to attempt alone to find an Italian fugitive in an Italian tenement. He ran to the Elizabeth street station, which was only half a block away, and asked for help. Ten men under a roundsman were sent out, and they picketed every tenement for six doors on either side of the one into which Triola had disappeared. They even set a watch on the roofs.

Chickens presently set up a great cackling in the cellar of 79. The roundsman and another policeman went into the place and found Triola trying to hide himself among the coops. They took him away and locked him up, while the folk of Mulberry and of Bayard streets looked on with calm disapproval. It is so unnecessary for the police to interfere in these matters, when the community is quite competent to settle them within itself. Maria Cirelli had many friends. and none of them was a coward.

JUDGE SCORES CROWDED TROLLEYS. Ibinks Roads' Cases Don't Fare Well in Hands of Jurors Who Have to Ride Standing.

Supreme Court Justice Gaynor of Brooklyn esterday set aside as excessive the verdic for $5,000 obtained by Lottie Crocker against the Brooklyn Heights Railroad Company for personal injuries in a trolley accident, unless the plaintiff consents to reduce it to see He took occasion at the same time thus to comment on the failure of the trolle; impunies to afford adequate accommodation for their patrons: "It is not easy for Judges and larremen, who go home to lunch in the middle of the day, and have to stand up in the ars as a rule, both going and coming for lack of a seat, although there is plenty of room on he streets for more cars, to come back feeling altogether pleasant toward the company And if they go with their wives to the theatre or some place of diversion at night and get are shoved about and trampled on, in a way not only painful, but actually immodest and lumoral, at hours when the streets are clear, her only painful, but actually immodest and lumoral, at hours when the streets are clear, and there is recent for cars enough either trailed facether or single to carry people decently, is two wonder if they come into court next meriping feeling impleasant toward the company feeling that way. PREDICT CASTER'S ELECTION. Statement That a Republican Will Be Chosen as Montana's Second Senator. HELENA, Mon . March 5 - The ballot for United States Senator to-day resulted as follows: Carter (Rep), 32, Frank (Dem), 24. Conrad (Dem), 16 scattering, 18.

The Legislature will adjourn on Thursday next. After vainly trying to secure a second ballot to-day in joint assembly Representative Donaldson said. "It is not more joint sessions that we need. What the Fusions need is a caucus and on those people who persist in remaining out of a caucus rests the failure to elect a Senator, if failure there be."

The Republicans are holding a caucus to-night There is a per-stent rumor to the effect that the friends of ex-Senator Carter have a surprise in store for the people to-morrow, and that if he is not elected to-morrow he will be the following day by the Republicans with the aid of the Independent Democrats and certain of the Fusionists, who will act on the theory that they have tried to elect a Fusionist, and that having failed they will vote for ex-Senator Carter that Montana may be fully represented in longress.
